

(RE)SEARCHING NEEDS AND HOPE THROUGH VISUAL STORYTELLING

Overview

In our contemporary world, millions are re-starting their lives as responses to economic struggles, work or study opportunities, and escapes from political conflicts or environmental problems. This audiovisual project contains around 40 interviews with migrants of Lisbon. The same set of questions is asked of people from different countries with different migrant and economic statuses to identify the similarities and differences within their integration process.

Questions

Aim

The questions can provide a starting point for understanding the experiences and perspectives of migrants and can help to shed light on what has helped or hindered their integration into Portugal. This approach can assist in establishing a solid framework for local social entities to understand the needs of different migrants and provide the necessary support.
